Jar Labels

Jar Labels are a must, especially if you enjoy canning. I made plum chutney the other day and decided my jars just needed that finishing touch of a special jar label.

I have my jars lined up on the top of my cupboard. Not only are they tasty but they certainly do add that extra country charm to my kitchen.

The labels are super easy to make and are fully customizable.

Materials

Cut Away Stabilizer

Cotton Fabric

Ribbon for ties

Temporary adhesive Spray Glue

Either use the wording included with the designs or add your own. Use embroidery editing software to personalize your labels or if your machine allows, add the wording to the label using the machines editing features.

Have a large hoop? Put multiple labels into one hooping and save on stabilizer.

As I have a large hoop, I have added several designs to one hooping.

Lets get started. Hoop 1 layer of stabilizer and stitch the first color.
This is the die line for fabric placement.

Spray the stabilizer with temporary adhesive spray and put a piece of cotton fabric over the die lines. Stitch the second color. Remove the hoop from the machine and turn it over so the back side of the hoop faces up. Spray the stabilizer with temporary adhesive spray and put a piece of cotton fabric over the stitched area.

Stitch the next color. Remove the hoop from the machine and trim away the excess fabric from around the design on both sides of the hoop. Stitch the next color. This completes the border of the label. If you have added wording, stitch that out too.

Cut the design out of the stabilizer. Cut open the button holes and thread ribbon through. Your labels are now ready to go onto those special home canned jars.
